

Rhonda Lee Murdoch

BAND STORY

I am Rhonda Lee Murdoch. I have always been in a group or in a band. This is my first solo project. I miss the noise of the band, but enjoy the pressure of silence, and find words and melodies come more freely now. I love the idea of not having to conform to one genre but instead embrace the things I love most about alternative old country and pop, and make a sound thats my own.

I write songs about ugly things, mean people and often love.

I love a good southern twang mixed with an alternative vibe.

This is my mark, my future and my history and likely the only honest measure of who I am.
