

Blues Element

BAND STORY

"

Thanks for visiting. This is where we are supposed to put our bio, but our bio is posted in a few other places already. But we decided we might as well at least include a mini bio here, since here is where you are.

Blues Element

Main Ingredients:

Composers Jamie Browning and Iain Green

1 bowl of blues

1 pinch of pop

1/2 jug of jazz

1/4 cup of country

A dash of folk and a splash of funk

Jamie sings

Iain drums

Mix well (with others)

Toronto's Blues Element is the vehicle that has been bringing the song writing skills of Jamie Browning and Iain Green to the stage and into the studio with the help of the best session players money and barter can buy.

The duo has enjoyed working with an amazing array of talent for their first 2 album releases and live performances since they started writing together in 2004. Currently, although not quite the Four Musketeers (all for one and one for all!), the guitarists' revolving door that was set in motion when Kenmi Chank had to return to Japan has at least stopped spinning. The amazing Adam Rawski has been thrilling Blues Element's live audiences, and the also amazing Russell Williams has been a fine sub and 2nd guitar when budget allows. We have also just added guitar whiz Mario Potestio to

STATS

Visits	Plays
687	0
Streams	Downloads
0	0

Featured Songs

the rotation. Bass duties are being filled in turn by 2 of Toronto's finest; Jason Farrar and Justin Snikkar.

Preproduction has now begun for cd 3, which they hope will join "Baby's Got The Blues" (2005) and "Are You Ready" (2008) in homes on and on radios around the world.

"

LATEST NEWS

For additional information please contact us
©2012 Canadian Music - Artists - Bands